Being together ...

Being ourselves ...

GARDNER – WEBB IS PEOPLE

I shall remember Dr. Lewis as and his acceptance of people. one who eagerly shared this His concern for and willingsecret he had learned about ness to help needy students life — True communication is knowing the thoughts of another, and no price is too high to pay to gain that knowledge.

- Dr. Dan W. Proctor

His mantle bore the mark of toil . . .

Toil among the books he loved . . .

Not withstanding among it all

A man of infinite charm and rhyme.

- Thomas J. McGraw

To me, Dr. J. Thurman Lewis was the epitome of the characteristics of Jesus Christ in his love, his understanding was also characteristic of the love of Christ for needy people. He was the greatest friend I have ever had.

— Rev. Charles Freeman

Dr. J. Thurman Lewis gave 12 years of his life to Gardner-Webb College. He was a man of Christian integrity and dedication. His work will live on through the lives of the students and the people he influenced. Gardner-Webb College will miss him greatly.

- Dr. E. Eugene Poston

Dr. Lewis was more like what I understand Christ was like more than any other person I have ever known. He taught the Biblical Languages, but he taught much more than just the languages. He taught love, not only in his words, but more importantly in his actions. That's what I remember about him most.

- Stephen G. Crouse Dr. J. Thurman Lewis was my friend. He was human and made mistakes, but he had a deep commitment to Christ and his intention was to follow the leadership of his Lord. He had a marvelous ability to interest students in studying Hebrew and he knew Hebrew so well that he could teach them so that they could learn the language more easily. Those who knew Thurman well will remember for a long time the good he did in his life. - Dr. Vann Murrell Mr. Hubert C. Dixon taught at Gardner-Webb for the past 41 years. In addition to being a professor, he has filled the capacities of Academic Dean, Dean of Men, and Registrar.

"Mr. Dixon has left a vacuum that no one else can fill — an era at Gardner-Webb has ended.

He was a man in every aspect of the word. He had certain principles which he never deviated from; he lived by them. They were high moral, ethical and religious standards and I never saw him violate any of them. In the great crises of his life he always lived by these principles; he was so consistent."

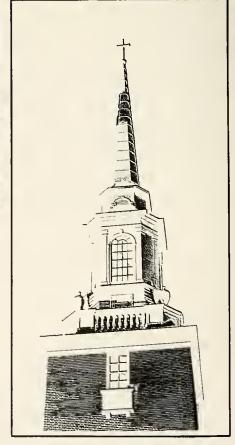

- Dr. Tony Eastman

Mr. Hubert C. Dixon

STAFF AND ADMINISTRATION

A man of ambition and determination, Dr. E. Eugene Poston, during 15 years as president, led Gardner-Webb College through an unprecedented period of progress and development.

A Shelby native, Dr. Poston graduated from Gardner-Webb Junior College and Wake Forest University, earning the bachelor of arts degree. He received three degrees at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary: the master of divinity, the master of theology and the doctor of philosophy.

As a Baptist pastor, Dr. Poston served pastorates in North Carolina, Kentucky and Georgia, before joining Gardner-Webb College in 1959 as chairman of the Department of Religion and professor of Greek, religion and sociology.

He succeeded Dr. Philip Elliott as president in 1961 and announced the "Decade of Advance, 1961-1971." During this period Gardner-Webb became a four-year, fully-accredited, liberal arts college and experienced related growth in enrollment, faculty and facilities.

Under Dr. Poston's leadership:

Enrollment more than doubled, the faculty nearly tripled.

Major capital improvement programs added: Spangler, Myers, Mauney and Lutz-Yelton dormitories for men and Nanney dormitory for women; the Charles I Dover Campus Center; Spangler Stadium; Hamrick Fieldhouse; Nanney baseball field; John R. Dover, Sr. Library; John R. Dover, Jr. Chapel; and Lindsey classroom building.

The Craig and Church classroom buildings were renovated, and the Webb administration Building was expanded to twice its size.

Land acquisitions doubled the size of the campus.

A two-year nursing studies program was initiated, and the college began a data processing and computer science program.

Dr. Poston also established the Board of Advisors, the Ministerial Board of Associates Wives Auxiliary, and the Parents Association.

Q—The administration of this campus says, "We are providing a Christian atmosphere for education." Does this atmosphere and the restrictions that go along with it cause any more problems than you would find on the normal college campus? If so, what types of problems would these be, and who is affected by them the most?

Basically, the responsibilities of this office are directed toward mental health on the campus as a whole — faculty, administration, staff, and especially students. Most of the things that contribute to good mental health are supported by this office. I would encourage participation and increased programming in the areas of good personality dynamics.

I guess I see probably more ministerial students than any other department, percentagewise, and I think it's because of this one factor: They feel pressured into a kind of a mold—this role that they are having to identify with, that doesn't feel natural—"It doesn't feel like me."

There are a lot of expectations that they just can't feel comfortable with, and they feel guilty that they don't feel comfortable with them. And then they may in fact begin to question their basic calling as a result of "It doesn't come natural."

I think being a child of God does come naturally. It helps us to even be more natural, to be more accepting of ourselves. I think more than anything, abundant life is authenticity-life that is totally authentic. "I know who I am. I don't have any illusions about myself. I know my strengths, my weaknesses. I know the things that put me uptight. I know the things that put me very much at peace." And being able to assert myself and to feel good about myself and feel free to express myself have no restrictions, that I interpret, that are found within the framework of the role of minister.

It's reality that is the crucial factor here. All of the things that contribute to being a good minister are the very factors that contribute to being a good insurance salesman. It's just being a totally authentic person who has been successful in developing his personal skills, is able to relate to people with warmth and be sensitive to their needs, and very much in touch with his own awareness of what is going on in his own life.

This other sort of peripheral things, the "God talk" and the ministerial haircut and the sort of "pastoral" stride in walking, Bible clutched to their left breasts, is certainly superficial and very unnatural and very offensive to many of us who see through a lot of that.

MORNINGSONG

PETER YARROW

It is not often that we have an opportunity to experience a performer who exhibits the sensitivity and earnestness of Peter Yarrow ... On Saturday, October 25, Peter performed for a homecoming crowd in the Bost Gymansium.

His whole style of presenting himself reflects his involvement in, and concern for, the rights of human beings as individual people. The development of this concern has been greatly influenced by Peter's involvement in the folk group of the '60's, Peter, Paul & Mary, Peter Yarrow, Paul Stoodev and Mary Travers are three very sensitive and concerned people, and they naturally deserved the popularity which was theirs as a result of their involvement in the major issues of the '60's.

If you missed this brief encounter with Peter Yarrow, or if somehow you weren't tuned-in to his wavelength, the following interview conducted by Tommy Swinney and Chapie Chapman gives a brief look at Peter the performer, the person, the humanist.

Don't you usually play with a band?

What happened? Why didn't you play with the band tonite?

Well, I'd say . . . I don't ordinarily. I did for about a year and a half. And I enjoyed it very much, but I got tired of their point of view. What I want now, and the reason I'm going on the road now -- I mean, besides the fact that, to a certain degree, I have to make a living, you know - is that I want to share the intimacy of just one person, without all of the production around it, so that the kind of music that feels most meaningful to me, can be shared once again. And that is: music, without all the trappings. If the music is foremost, you want all the instruments you can get. I was traveling with five instrumentalists and two singers for, oh, about six months and I had a rock band and I really enjoyed it, but I got tired of just the music. What I wanted was the meaning and the intimacy and the sense of just one person standing there and saving what he had to say and sharing it. And that's why I did what I did. And that's the only way I'm going to perform for a while now. I can do the other thing, but I'm really not a kind of performer who, if he respects all the things that there are to share and say now, can let them sort of be overpowered by the music. There are performers like Judy Collins, who carry a band and it's wonderful, but, to me, when there's a band, I really want them to be front and center with me too not a backup band. And the bands that I had had extraordinary musicians, and I wanted them to be as much a part of the show as I was. But that's a different kind of phenomenon.

Did you originally start out as a solo performer?

Yeah, I did. For about a year and a half before Peter, Paul & Mary were together, I was managed by Albert Grossman, who managed Peter, Paul & Mary, Bobby Dylan, Janis Joplin, lan & Sylvia, Paul Butterfield, and Joan Baez. I mean, he was the best manager in the field. I thought I would be a solo performer, and then Peter, Paul & Mary was an idea that Albert had. He introduced me to Paul and Mary, and of course, the rest is history.

Were you comfortable when you first got into the Peter, Paul & Mary thing? Were you comfortable in that, or did it take a while to adjust from a solo performer to a performer within a group?

Well, if you ever saw Peter, Paul & Mary, you realize that we were all three soloists and we all got off individually. It wasn't like putting on the same costumes and looking alike. Each of us was very different from the others, but we were really together, and each didn't have his personality somehow lost in the group. Peter was Peter, and Paul was Paul, and Mary was Mary, and everybody sensed that. What took a long time was not adjusting to being a member of a group, because we didn't lose our soloist stature or sense of what we were. The thing that took a long time was the development of that musical point of view that Peter, Paul & Mary became. That was a long task and a very meaningful one.

You said, "If you had ever seen Peter, Paul & Mary . . .," and I was seven years old back in '63, you know. So I was too young to remember anything like that. Actually, I was too young to remember Peter, Paul & Mary even breaking up and hearing about it. So, could you just kinda fill me in on why you broke up?

We broke up in 1970, which would have made you 14 years old. And at the time that we broke up, we broke up really at the height of our career. We didn't break up because we were losing popularity. We broke up because we were going in different directions philisophically. If you had seen Peter, Paul & Mary, you would have known that what we represented on stage was three people that really agreed to share something and believe in something together and live it. It was an enormously strong show. It had not just a sense of entertainment, but a sense of such an electric and such an infectious commitment, that many, many people began to think about their lives and themselves in a wholly different way through that music. And that kind of music, along with the music of Bob Dylan and such, became the beginning of a new consciousness that stirred the nation and changed the attitude of people, even unto now. But Peter, Paul & Mary broke up because Paul got very, very spiritually involved. He had a revelatory experience. He wanted to serve the Lord, and he didn't really want to do exactly what Peter, Paul & Mary had been doing. And I was into politics and Mary was somewhere else, and we couldn't really be together on stage. So it would have been a lie to have continued together. The thing that was the truth about us was that we really did always agree and believe things together. When we ceased to believe together, we ceased to share that kind of point of view.

In a nutshell, what were your beliefs and your convictions back during Peter, Paul & Mary and the early days, and what are they now and how have they changed?

Peter, Paul & Mary felt, as we sang and as we lived, that each person in the world was not a speck and a part of a cog in a system, but could change the world. Each person could help to change the world and if we all worked together and sang and we donated money and we campaigned and we used all of our efforts and energies. because we believed that if we stuck together and if we believed together, we could win. And in point of fact, the war was stopped more by the people like the Peter, Paul & Mary's who said, "This is an immoral war," who took and put their bodies on the line, and ultimately it was clear that the Vietnamese War was immoral. And in a nutshell, what we were thinking and saying was, "Let us see the world for what it really is. Let us wipe away the sham and foolishness and the fakiness of human beings and the selfishness and the ugly hatred that we inherit, and let us reach out for one another because within our lives there is the power and there is the capacity to make a better world." And we believed this, and we were marching towards that dream. And yet the truth of the matter was that we couldn't translate it into the leadership of the country. Gene McCarthy lost, and Richard Nixon and all the people that surrounded him came into power. And Kent State then occurred and 7,000 people in Washington were put in preventive detention; the back of the movement was broken and people who had believed ceased to believe. And now, once again, there is the beginning of the stirring of caring. But this time it's one person by one person saying, "Who am I? What is born to me? And how shall I define my life so that I won't live without happiness?'

I got the Impression watching you that your thing was not so much going out and playing music, but trying to reach out. Is that basically where you stand as far as your performing is concerned?

That's one way of looking at it. The way that I look at it is that music for me is reaching out. Until there is love exchanged with music, it doesn't express what I feel music must express - for me. Music is not music of alienation for me. Music is not a way of just boogieing until you can't think and you can't feel and getting loaded until you no longer care. Music is a way of being happy, being sad, being together, but always being true. And unless there's that feeling of reaching, not for an escape, but for what life is, with all its pain and happiness and beauty . . . and sorrow, then music isn't music.

I know Paul professes to be a Christian, and I was wondering - when he changed, did he try to take you and Mary along with him and if he did, now? How has that affected you? How do you feel about Paul now and his bellafs?

Well, Mary and I are very spiritual people in our own way, but our spirituality was humanistic. We saw the Lord in human beings and the goodness of human beings and the very fact of life. I am Jewish by birth, but I'm not religious Jewish. And my religion is ethical culturalism. It's pantheistic, it's humanistic, and so is Mary's who is . . you know . . . has the background of a WASP, and we love Paul and I still love Paul and I went along with his feeling, but when his feeling all of a sudden told him that he had to serve the Lord differently, he had to go. He never tried to convert us per se. He tried to share the beauty that he saw with us. And I loved that in him, and I loved him for it. But conversion to him was not his point of view. His point of view was sharing the light that he felt, and he did so with beauty and with great grace.

Do you ever long for the Peter, Paul & Mary days again? Would you like to go back to that?

Do I want to go back to it? I would long for the sense of community that we shared, if we could share it again. But I do not long for the relationship unless it has the truthfulness that we once shared, and that is something that perhaps we might not be able to capture. But we are talking about getting back together again. And if in fact we do get back together again, it will only be if we can be once again totally truthful and loving to one another - in our music and in our person.

I know that back in . . . was it '71 or '72? ... you got back with the other two for the George McGovern benefit. Were you really being truthful with yourselves then - among yourselves?

Absolutely. It was like Batman flashing the bat signal in the sky and Batman saying, "I'm needed." If we're really, really needed, we'll get back together again.

If you were to get back together, would it be more a matter of you and Mary accepting Paul, or Paul accepting you again?

Well, it would be a matter of a common ground being tound. There is no dignity towards copping out. We would all have to be who we are. And if we couldn't do that with integrity, we shouldn't do it at all.

BICENTENNIAL DAY

Altogether, Bicentennial Day turned out to be a chance to break from the routine of classes and papers. It gave us a chance to dress up (top: Karen Chapman with Robert Pettyjohn), to work out a little spring fever (mlddle: Rev. Buddy), or just to enjoy spending the day outside (left: Cathy Cherry).

The present has Indian-given the beginning.

Some tell us we've short-changed the everlasting.

Scars should show us where we've come from;

the garden of Adam to the eve of destruction, country club financiers, middle rung suburbia — unfortunate slums.

Approaching the fort-century of this government, from countries uncounted our people were sent. Since 1865 this is some damn reconstruction.

And what of those whom we invaded? Against them the battles we escalated for our selfish discriminating purposes.

Those who suffered in land; food; our lies; promises; population; loopholed contracts; disease — tremendous losses.

Two hundred years?

Bicentennial?

In relative peace, they lived here thousands of years. Now they've nothing but tears...

... and we've developed overkill.

- Speedy Holbrook

Dr. Nuhrah

Dr. Arthur Nuhrah will have been at Gardner-Webb College for seven years in August, 1976. He came to Gardner-Webb because he liked the small college environment, the North Carolina area, and the opportunity for administrative development which existed here.

The following interview is one which we hope will help more people to understand his back ground and the resulting teaching emphases he has.

WEB: Do you prefer teaching at a private school?

Nuhrah: I like private schools over state schools by all means. State schools are involved in socialistic ideas and materialistic ideas which are contrary to Christian and American tradition. If I taught in a state institution the way I teach here. I'd probably be fired.

W: You have mentioned your background before and it involved some government work. Was it C.I.A., F.B.I. ...?

N: No, it was not C.I.A. or F.B.I. I performed counter-intelligence work in an unofficial capacity for the U.S. Army.

W: How many years?

N: On and off for more than a year, while at the same time I was officially listed as a medical lab technician. I helped run one of the largest medical laboratories in the country. So I've had a lot of experience in medical lab work. I was paid directly and ranked directly for my medical lab contributions.

W: Have you finished medical school?

N: I've finished pre-med. I've taken a number of courses that applied to medical education, but I never went to medical school per se. However, it wouldn't take but about two full years for me to complete a medical degree if I wanted to. I'm late for that.

W: Are you qualified to teach in medicine and history both?

N: I taught medical technology for years, both to Army personnel and civilian personnel. I'm fully qualified also to teach history. My Ph.D. is in history, but I also have a large background in natural and medical sciences. I prefer to teach history.

W: O.K. Let's talk about your history classes. You teach the existence of a conspiracy?

N: Yes, I don't hesitate to tell anyone that I do believe the so-called "conspiracy theory" of history — not that I do not see relationships and influences of coincidence, accident, blunder, or stupidity. You see, all of those play a role. But involved in them, and interweaving throughout the whole fabric, is this conspiratorial aspect which most historians, for private or other reasons, decide not to accept.

W: What kind of conspiracy is it?

N: The conspiracy is both political and financial. The people involved in the conspiracy are interested not only in the political developments but in economic control as well. Basically, the people involved are monopoly finance capitalists. Their objective is a total, unshakable, unchallengeable monopoly. In other words, they want a monopoly that can never be broken or challenged in any way. What better monopoly than control of the entire world?

W: So actually, it's not a Communist conspiracy?

N: They will use any idealogy for their purposes. They are not Communists. This is the mistake the prejudiced and closed-minded student will assume; that we are saying that "There is a Communist under every bed", but that's not the way we look at it.

In my classes, I sight the four key sources that prove that since 1917, the richest people in the world have been pushing, and financing communism, because that's a weapon of theirs to get control of everything in the world. It could just as well be facism, nazism, or any other ideology. They chose to use communism, or socialism as it's better understood.

W: What then is the greatest problem facing the world today?

N: The greatest problem of the world today, of course, is the conspiracy. That is, they're pushing socialism as a way of life for more and more people and more and more nations. If this process isn't halted, eventually they will achieve their one-world, socialist dictatorship. They are two-thirds of the way towards their goal, and that's being conservative.

My objective is to get more and more people aware of the fact that there is something wrong. If they really believe, then they will spread to word to others. It's a gradual process of awakening of an ever-larger circle of people. If you do not believe, you cannot act. You act only on what you truly believe. People must awaken and believe before they can act, and if you alert one or two out of a group to believe and tell others; then you are widening the circle of influence in a geometric pattern. Each one of these will tell somebody; and eventually, you may awaken enough people to save what's left of our freedoms.

MR. CARSON

Mr. Carson: I think we can begin now.

WEB: How long have you been here at Gardner-Webb?

C: 'Leventy-two years. I came here in 1912...oh, no, no! This is my third year. I came here in 1973.

W: Were you teaching somewhere else?

C: I was, I was. I was teaching at Montclair State College, New Jersey. I taught there from 1969 to '73 — the longest I've ever held a job—four years.

W: Where did you go to college yourself?

C? Shaw University in Raleigh

W: Is that a religious school?

C: It is a Baptist school. And I had a double major. I had Bible and Social Studies. I was trying to get a major in history too, but I missed it by three hours.

W: How far are you from a doctorate then?

C: Well, I'm within striking distance. I'm writing a dissertation. I had planned to have it written this December, but my electric typewriter broke down and it's still in the shop. So I didn't get to do that. All I have to do is sit down and type it and send it to the men and let them approve it. So I won't make the May graduation, but I'Il be given a degree sometime this year to show that I have finished it. I ought to be able to get my approval by this summer.

W: You're very close then.

C: Oh! ... Too close to turn around.

W: Who do you think has made the greatest impression on your life?

C: The Reverend D.L. McGuire. He is currently pastoring in Marion, North Carolina. He pastored there, and then he went to Kentucky and then came back to North Carolina.

He taught me more about the ministry than any seminary could because he taught me the inside. I've had a lot of people to impress me, but because of what he taught me, I was able to meet conflicts in the ministry that I would not have been able to meet with the same calm spirit that I've met them with because he warned me fifteen or twenty years ago that some of these things were going to happen. And so he has made the greatest impression on my life.

W: I (ed.) grew up knowing several people who were visually blind. I found them to be more direct than sighted persons in communicating with people. It seems they have overcome the blindness and are actually less sensitive about it than most people would think them to be. Do you find this to be true?

C: Well, it depends. You don't want a waitress walking up to your table and asking somebody, "What does he want?" When a sweet, young thing walks up and says, "What does he want?" I say, "Well now, if you ask 'He' ..."— and I know that's not good English. Dr. Cox wouldn't like that — but I say, "If you ask 'He'..." — That's a capital "He." I assume that she is nameing "Him." — "He will tell you." And then I'll tell her that "He" wants this and that and the other. And it shocks them that I do know what I want.

You've got to get over being sensitive, or alse you'll never get anywhere. If you're looking around for a job, you lay it on the line, "Sure, I can't see, but . . ." And then you just go ahead and lay it forth — what you can do. Some people hide it until they get to the interview, and then they wonder why they get turned down so often. But I lay it on the line from the beginning so that they won't ever have to send for me if they don't want me.

I'm not too sensitive to it. I don't call it a handicap. I just say, "Well my bulbs aren't shining too bright." Sometimes when I'm handed something to read by mistake by some unknowing person, I say, "Well, my bulbs aren't shining too good, and I left my glasses at home and I've got thick ones. So you'll have to show me what to do with this."

If you can laugh at yourself, you can make it through life. If I was to spill something on myself, I would laugh. I'd throw my head back and laugh and enjoy it. It's not hilarious when someone else spills something on me, but if I do it, then I can laugh. I think that if you can laugh at yourself, you can get by life with a minimum of difficulty.

W: What hobbies do you have?

C: I like reading. I like writing. Oh, I don't write too much for publication, but I love to write. I like washing dishes. The reason for that is that it gives me time to think and to sing or to get my mind on a matter and decide what I'm going to do about certain problems that I might face. So I get into the dishwater.

W: My sister would like to have you over at my house then.

C: Well, my wife is glad to have me, because sometimes I say, "Oh, step back," because sometimes we have quite a few of them to do, you know. I do them right. I don't break any. My percentage of breakage is very low.

Another hobby I have is that I like to meet people, even though it took my getting out of my introversion. I was a very shy type of individual when I was in high school. I really didn't like to meet new people, and it took a long time to get me out of that. And now I'm pretty much out of that. I like to meet people. I like to talk to them.

I like sports. I like playing basketball with my son. I sometimes can beat him, because I know where the goal is and how to shoot it. I like games — dominoes is my favorite. Then I like football, basketball, and baseball. I like all three. So I've got quite a few hobbies, and I guess that's why I don't let drudgery set in on me.

W: How long have you been without sight?

C: 'Leventy-two years. That means that I've been this way pretty permanently. At least they didn't tell me anything about me being able to peep when I was a baby.

W: Do you think that your other senses compensate for this?

C: Well, I don't have too many others. They are kind of low in their compensation. Well, I think so. They do pretty well. I hear very well. The sense of smell is very acute. Touch is acute. The sense of feeling, I guess. I don't know whether my taste buds are any more acute. They're sharp though.

But I think there's something else. I don't know what you would call it. If that's all you had — the other four senses, compensating for the fifth one — I don't know if you would have enough. I think you would need something else. I don't know what I would call it, except there is a sixth sense which compensates more than anything else. I guess it's just something like presence, or something.

W: How has this affected your teaching methods? Do you feel that the lack of the ability to see affects this?

C: No, it doesn't. I have a very good relationship with the students. But it really is interesting when you walk into a freshman class for the first time and they all have heard that you don't see. But when you walk in there, they say, "Hey, this guy's for real." You walk in there and they want to treat you very respectfully. They're going to be very angelic. You know, they feel real sorry for you because you can't see.

W: Now, as far as you know, you have been blind since birth. We, meaning those of us who are sighted, dream in images of people and objects we have seen. If you have not visually seen these things, what goes through your mind when you dream in your sleep? C: Well, not that I don't have a chance to dream that much because I don't sleep that much, but you dream of people. You dream of running. You dream of playing. You dream of falling. You dream of objects.

For example, one of the most vivid dreams I have ever had was when I dreamed that Billy Graham could not show up at a meeting for some reason and they told me I had to speak. I never did know what I spoke, but I remember visualizing all of these preachers sitting on the platform and this choir over behind the platform and these ten thousand faces peering up at me. I was standing at a great height above these faces. I remember this, and it was in an outdoor setting.

You dream your feelings. You dream people there. I may not dream in color, but I guess I dream in stereophonic sound.

W: What are your plans for the future? Do you plan to write a book?

C: Oh, heavens! ... "Of many made books, there is no end," sayeth the writer of Ecclesiastes. I have had ideas of writing books, but I think my plans for the future include basically teaching and the pastoral ministry, or traveling all over the country in Bible conferences. I'm not too much of a traveling evangelist or preacher, but I love Bible conferences. So if anybody needs somebody for a Bible conference, I'd be glad to hustle over and give what I know on at least one of my favorite pastimes. You know, I can look at a book so many times and every time I look at it, I get something new out of it. So I guess teaching, pastoring, and Bible conferences — those are my loves for the future.

Hit me. What's the next question?

MEN WATCH YOU GRACEFUL FLIER

A bird glides in the distant sky
Unfocused in my young eyes.
It flies neither toward me nor away
Yet it flies, not troubling itself.
To make itself known to me — what family, what species.

The regular form, soaring, circling: Absolute beauty, positive balance. It sees behind me, before me, Over and around.

Men watch you graceful flier, winged offspring of your Mother Some nearer to you than I, some farther away;

Dreaming of you, singing of you, coveting your inborn secret,

Your inborn power of escape.

Planes and ships glide on the sea;
Sailing out, out. Men, teased by technology,
Temporarily intruding upon your domain;
Bound to return.

The numility, the magesty of the bird:

Perching on roof-tops; perching high, above the timber line.

Perching for hours; watching periferally.

Peering down on those bound, within themselves.

To callous, lethargic existence.

An flight! Silent, sensual gift;
Sailing out, out, the natural act.
Above those who watch him, observing the confusion.
The bird: head cocked, boldly forward.
Spreads his wings full span quick, as a spark.
And ascends, gliding into the distant sky.

Coming in the early spring of 1975, coach Oval Jaynes brought with him something new to the Gardner-Webb football scene — the veer offence. He had installed the veer offense at Wake Forest and at U.S.C. with a great deal of success. We talked with him about the veer offence and the 1975 season in general.

WEB: South Carolina used a veer offense. Was this Dietzel's idea or yours?

Jaynes: Coach Dietzel had never been a veer coach. My background with the veer offense came from some personal ideas and in 1966 I had heard Bill Yeoman speak in New York and along with another assistant we convinced Coach Parker to take a look at the veer offense. We put the veer in 1967 and we were the first team in the east to put the offense in use. (This was at The Citadel where Coach Jaynes was an assistant under Red Parker from 1965 to 1968.)

I was responsible for putting the twin veer in at Wake Forest, the first ACC school to use this type offense. At South Carolina, Coach Dietzel had nothing to do with the offense. The head coach is responsible for coaching the coaches. He hires the people he needs to run his system.

W: Do you think that you would have had a chance to get Dietzel's job at South Carolina, had you stayed there?

J: Well, Coach Dietzel resigned and in a major college the assistant coaches work pretty much under the same contract as well. When he resigned, Jim Carlen of Texas Tech was hired and he brought nine coaches with him. I didn't want to be the tenth assistant of the staff.

W: Did this play a great part in your coming to Gardner-Webb?

J: I had been caught in a coaching change at the beginning of a season and after twelve years of being a major college coach I felt I wanted to be a head coach. I had some job offers from major colleges who needed an assistant but I felt this was a good time to get a head coaching position. This is my first head coaching job.

W: How do you like being a head coach?

J: It's a lot different than I'm used to. I think the biggest change is in the way you do things. In a major college, you had more to work with from a standpoint of budget and people. I'm talking about numbers — staff people. At the University, we had 31 people involved in our football program. Here we only have five.

W: Was your first team here up to your expectations?

J: No, I don't think so. I wasn't disappointed in the effort our young people gave. I was disappointed in the fact that we didn't win more games. We were extremely young; we had 31 of 50 who were freshmen. Added to that was the fact that the upper-classmen had to adjust to our system. We didn't have anyone who had played the veer. There were only 11 upper-classmen which made us the youngest team in the SAC-8.

It's disappointing as a coach when you don't have a winning season and that's the most frustrating thing. It's only the third time in 24 years as a player and a coach that I've been involved with a team having a losing season. We were hampered by injuries to 14 players. This was a setback for our team.

W: What was the greatest area ofimprovement, the highlight of this season?

J: The highlight, if there is such a thing, is: number 1, the attitude of our kids. I think that we never lost heart and throughout the season we gave great effort and each week we got a little better. Winning the Presbyterian game was great. We beat a good Presbyterian team and I think this was another highlight of our season.

The progress we made each week and knowing we've got something to build onto was also a highlight of our season. The players we've got coming back gained a great deal of experience and this will help next year.

W: What is your greatest thrill as a coach?

J: Well, I've had many exciting things happen to me as a coach; I've been at many different schools. I think my biggest thrill as a coach thus far was coming to Gardner-Webb College. Again, this is my first head coaching job and it's my first opportunity to do something that I'm totally responsible for.

Winning the ACC title with Wake Forest was another great thrill for me. We were the first coaching staff to produce a conference champion football team at Wake Forest.

W: What rates top priority for next season?

J: We want to build a winning program and establish a winning tradition. This helps to attract better talent. It takes money to have a winning program, especially when you haven't competed as a four-year college any longer than we have.

W: Who were your most outstanding players of last season?

J: Well, I think Bob Bolick, an All-American this year, was one of the best football players I've been around. I've coached 37 ballplayers who are now in the pros and I think Bob certainly has some of the qualities these boys have. He's an outstanding offensive lineman and I think he'll be drafted into the pros. William Peppers was an honorable mention All-American. William did an excellent job for us at defensive back. He and Bob were both all-conference and all-district.

Two others who also made all-conference teams were Monte Walker and Po Rogers. They are both sophomores and will be back next season. Po made the team despite being injured at the middle of the season and missing our last four games. He's a good running back, a real threat on kickoffs and punt returns, and an exciting player to watch. Monty, I feel, is one of the best defensive ends in the conference and we look for good things to come from both of these fellows next season.

W: How has this year's recruiting gone?

J: We have signed a few players, but since we have so many players coming back we are limited in the number of new people we can bring in. In the SAC-8, you are limited to 25 scholarships for football—that's total for your program. This year we lose five seniors and basically, that means we can only bring in five freshmen. What we will try to do is spread the money we do have among as many freshmen as possible. No one is on a full scholarship; we can't afford that luxury.

College costs are astronomical, even more so at a private school. We have to find pople who can afford to go to school in addition to the amount of money we give them. Right now we have signed six football players for next year. I hope to be able to sign somewhere between eight and ten.

W: What is your outlook for next season and what do you think will be the strongest point of the 1976 Bulldogs?

J: Our outlook for next year is — well, the less you say, the less you have to take back — I think we'll be better. How much better we'll be I don't know. We'll have more experienced football players. We won't be starting twelve freshmen (seven on offense, five on defense) as we did last year.

I believe the boys will know more what we as the coaches want to do and I hope we will be playing with a seasoned quarterback. We will be better there. We have to improve in the defensive secondary and we have to improve at linebacker for us to be competitive next year. Our kick-game has got to get better. We've recruited an outstanding kicker and he'll be eligible next year and that area will definitely be improved.

I believe a team has to improve in all areas to be competitive and we're looking for a much better year. Of course, how much better, only time will tell.

It takes a lot of good coaching and a lot of hard work;

and it begins to pay off ...

... eventually.

BASKETBAL

WEB: Coach, before we talk about the Bulldogs, could you tell us a little about your own playing career?

Holbrook: I played high school ball at Hildebran, which had a very good basketball program at that time. We went to the state finals the three years I was in high school. I played college basketball at Lenoir Rhyne which also had a very good program. I believe we won the conference championship three of the four years I was there.

W: What position did you play and how would you rate yourself as a player?

H: I played guard and I was, of course, very small. I had to rely on quickness and hustle, agressiveness and enthusiasm since I wasn't exactly the most talented player on the team. I didn't play much my first year; I started my junior and senior years.

W: As a coach, what do you believe to be your strongest point? Are you better as a recruiter, a game strategist, or a player developer?

H: Well, if you read the newspapers, they say that probably my greatest assets are in the recruiting area. But, getting right down to it; our recruiting has been strong because of our assistant coaches. The assistant coaches are the people who do a great portion of the recruiting, especially the initial contact, screening and scouting of the players.

I think the strongest point of our program is that it has been a well-meshed program. We've had good recruiting, good player developement, and we've had good game strategy, enabling us to win a lot of games. I don't think you can take one point of that and say that we excel in one of them. We've been successful because they've been well-coordinated and well-balanced.

W: What characteristic do you desire most in a player?

H: Number one; his attitude is very important because of the type basketball we play. If a guy doesn't have a good attitude as far as the game is concerned, as far as life is concerned, he's going to have trouble making it. We're pretty demanding on them at times. We do it purposely because of the style of ball we play. So if he really doesn't love to play and he's not a really decent person, if he doesn't have a good outlook on life and the game; he's really going to have real problems with us.

Artis Gilmore

George Adams

John Drew

We also consider his enthusiasm and the intensity with which he approaches the game. We look for those who realize that they also have to go to school, that this goes hand-in-hand with being a player. From there, we look at the talent aspects of it.

Most people think talent is the first thing we look at, but this isn't necessarily true. I think that talent at the championship college level is fairly equal, so those things like attitude and approach to the game are going to be the important factors in close championship games.

W: Who would you say are the best players and your best team at Gardner-Webb?

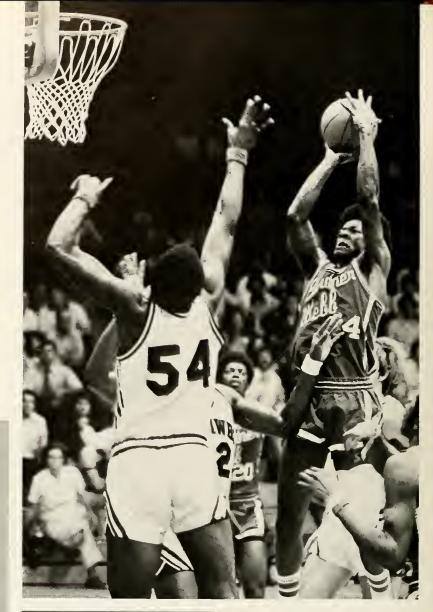

H: We have had several really good players. I think you have to characterize this by the size of the player and the position they play. You have to say that Gilmore was one of the best. He was 7'2". He developed into a good player and took our team to the junior college finals two years. He did a good job.

I think you must say that George Adams, at 6'5" probably did more for a single program than any 6'5" player that I can think of on the senior college level. He averaged around 30 points per game and made All-American two years in succession. He received just about every honor any small college player could have made.

John Drew was an outstanding player. When he first came here he had not been exposed to a lot of good competition and it took awhile to develop. During the last part of his sophomore year, people began to realize just how great he was. We went on the national finals and he played absolutely super ball. His best days were before him and since he didn't play here his junior and senior years, we didn't get to see just how good he really was

As for the best team, I'll have to say it was the team that finished higher than any other team and that was in 1972. They finished fourth in the country. They were the best team. They were not the most talented players, but they played together as a team. The team that we have this year can be very good. Of course, next year they can be even bet-

W: Did you expect a good season out of this team?

H: No. It has been a verp pleasant surprise. We had to be realistic and look at it at the beginning of the season. We lost six of our first seven players and the only player we got back was John Pait who is a small point guard at 5'10" and those people are just not the type player that you build championship teams around. You build championship teams around big people. We had to look at it and say we have one guy back who has played

very much. There is no way you can beat good clubs that have experience.

I do think this team has shown that what is on paper does not necessarily hold true. That is one of the values of athletics. It has shown that the team that gives a little bit more as far as effort is concerned can get a little bit more in return. This team has shown evidence of it. I had tried to brace myself for a season like 15-10 or 16-10. I had hoped it wouldn't come. That was not my goal, but we had to look at it realistically. It has been a pleasant surprise. It is a tribute to the players. I think they wanted to show people that this would not be the worst team we had had in four or five years.

W: Which was your most important victory of this season?

H: I would say probably the win over Lenoir-Rhyne in the WBTV Tournament.

It looked like we were down and out of it the last four minutes of the game, seven or eight points behind. It looked like a pretty hopeless situation. We were not playing well the second half and it looked like we were just not going to win the ballgame. One thing we tried to convey to the team during the last four minutes was that we were still in the ballgame and don't give up. We still have a chance and let's give it everything we've got. Of course. We came back and beat them. I think the confidence and the momentum we gained helped us to win a lot of other games.

W: What would you say are the strongest and weakest points of this year's team?

H: The strongest point is its balance. I think we have six guys who average in double figures. It has great depth. We can play nine guys without batting an eye, almost. Another strong point is that they are very talented.

The weak points are: They are inexperienced. This factor hurts us more in the things we try to do. We have not been able to do a lot of things that we would normally do like changing defences as frequently as we like to do during the course of a game. Next year they should be able to adapt to changes in defense and offense without having so many breakdowns during the course of the game.

W: Who is the most improved player this season?

H: That is hard to say. To be honest with you I can't look at one single individual and say that that person has improved more than any other player on the team. I think all of them have improved.

GOLF

Exhibiting excellent team balance and strength, Gardner-Webb's golfers captured the school's first national championship by winning the NAIA National Tournament.

After showing improvement in the team standings each of the first three days, the Bulldogs made their move during the final round of the four-day match and won the 33-team tournament by one stroke.

Gardner-Webb's team score of 1193 was one shot better then Elon's 1194. U.S. International of California was three strokes behind at 1196.

The Bulldogs also placed two players of the All-America team, Jimmy Franklin and Zim Zimmerman. The 'Dogs' low man for the tournament. Franklin had rounds of 75-73-73-75 for a 296 total. Zimmerman made the All-American squad for the second straight year after scores of 73-76-75-74 for 298.

The players were not the only ones earning honors as coach Garland Allen was named NAIA Golf Coach of the Year.

The tournament was played at Alamance Country Club in Burlington, N.C.

Gardner-Webb was in sixth-place after the first day and steadily climbed to fourth, then second-place, to trail U.S. International by four shots beginning the final 18 holes.

Franklin, Zimmerman, Rodney Morrow, Wayne Myers and Charlie Mack represented the Bulldogs at the nationals. Only one score higher than 77 was recorded by the golfers over the tough par-71 course.

Ironically, Gardner-Webb defeated Elon by one stroke to win the District 26 championship earlier in the spring. It was the fourth time in six years that the Bulldogs have won the district crown and played in the national tournament.

The spring also produced an outstanding individual effort by Rodney Morrow, who won the Bulldog Open at the Riverbend Course with scores of 63 and 61 for an amazing 36-hole score of 124, 20 strokes under par.

The Bulldogs prepared for the District and National tournaments by playing in a number of intercollegiate tournaments against some of the stronger college and university teams in the South.

The 1976 Bulldog netters set a new GWC record by winning 9 matches this season. Coach Jim Taylor (team shot, front) had a squad consisting of 5 seniors, 1 junior and a freshman. The netters went 6-2 in District 26 competition defeating teams such as Guilford, Catawba, Lenior-Rhyne, and Belmont Abbey. The best win of the season was their last match when they beat Mars Hill 5-4 to break the old record of 8 wins in 1972.

The netters were led by senior Randy Alexander who played in the number 1 singles and doubles position. He also won the Most Valuable Player Award for 1976. Bert Brimberry played in the number 2 singles position and 1 doubles spot. He was voted the Team Award by his teammates. Tim Gregory played in the number 3 singles position and 2 doubles. Glenn Phillips was the only freshman on the team and he set a

In the beginning, this book was an idea which became an obsession. It developed in that form for a year and a half until work actually began on its physical form.

It realization was very much like the birth of a child. A lot of sweat was spent as many eyes looked on. Others wouldn't look. They only wanted to be notified when it was all over.

The cries of intense emotion were not directed at any particular person. They only exercised the feelings of a painfully happy staff . . . a staff which felt so alone and yet so important at that long moment of birth.

And in the completion of that event, certainly those who were the most responsible for the conception and care of that child will receive the most joy and hope in its realization.

As the editor of the Web, I would like to express my personal appreciation to the following:

to Van Scott for letting me run with it.

to Al Butto for helping me to appease the gods of the printing company.

to Connie Hammett who knows more about this sort of thing than I do.

to Ray Pople for listening.

to the young lady who was my special friend and who understood.

to those of the student body who were understanding enough to be patient with us.

to the One above and within for providing a happy ending.
